Happy Mother's Day!

Civic Center Approved By New Council

BY GUNNAR NORBERG

Yesterday Carmel stood at a critical crossroad, brought there by a series of actions taken in months and years past by city councils then in office. Last night — by a 3-2 vote on the deciding motions — the present city council set the city's foot upon a new, and untrod road, when it took the crucial actions to start the $390,000 "first phase" of the long-debated civic center at Fourth and Junipero. Voting for the civic center — after hours of argument and counter-argument, also varied parliamentary maneuvers — were Mayor Steve Grant and Councilmen Herbert Blanks and Eben Whittlesey. Voting against it, were Councilmen William Sefton and myself.

An interpretation by City Attorney William Burleigh lifted a possible barrier to the actions of the council when he ruled that sale of the present police station corner at Mission and Seventh could be accomplished by a simple majority vote, rather than by a 4-to-1 majority vote. He had ruled, before last month's municipal election, the latter vote would be required to authorize the sale which was actually not put out for bid until last night.

Later, a proposal by Mr. Sefton, concurred in by myself, that the decision on the costly civic center be put to a vote of the people in a bond election was rejected, also by a 3-2 vote. An effort to propose rebuilding the police station on its present site was similarly rejected, and by the same vote.

Apart from sale of the police station corner, financing of the civic center project is to be by the "tax interim" method. This contemplates use of $300,000 of the city's present cash reserves, plus the assumed $90,000 to be derived from the sale of the police station

Charlie Hayes from Maryland will pilot his new McClaren Chevy around the track in the main event. He will team up with Dan Blocker (Bonanza's Hoss) in the pit to win the USSRC crown.

For the first time, sedan racing will be seen at Laguna Seca. A $3,000 purse is offered for this event. Fans will have a chance to see 37 American and foreign cars compete. Drivers include Don Pike, Pete Cords, Ron Pearson, Dick Hassell, John Bolander,

Alcan Sells Control Of Del Mesa Carmel To Hawaiian Group

Alcan Pacific Co. of Sacramento has sold the controlling interest in the Del Mesa Carmel condominium development in Carmel Valley to Carmel-Hawaii Investors, Inc., according to E. J. (Mike) Sullivan of Carmel, president of the newly formed CHI organization, to be known as Del Mesa Carmel Development Co.

Sullivan has resigned as a vice-president of Alcan and will devote his full time to the new corporation, which plans to develop an $8 million condominium complex in the Valley. He has been in charge of management and sales at Hacienda Carmel, another Alcan development, since June, 1962.

Other officers of Carmel-Hawaii are Willard M. P. Wong, board chairman; Harry Y. K. Chock, vice-president and Raymond Y. C. Ho, vice-president and treasurer. All are prominent Honolulu businessmen. They will serve as directors of CHI, along with Sullivan.

Wong, a graduate of the University of California, is owner of B. Y. Wong & Co., a stock brokerage firm, a former president of the Honolulu Stock Exchange and a director of the Liberty Bank of Honolulu.

Chock is owner of A. C. Chock

& Co., general contractors; a member of the Hawaii public utilities commission; and a past president of the Associated General Contractors of America, Hawaii chapter. He is a graduate of the University of Hawaii.

Ho, a graduate of Yale University law school, is currently in general investments. He has served as treasurer, commissioner of banking, insurance and securities and director of finance and budget for the state of Hawaii.

Before coming to Carmel in 1962, Sullivan spent a year in Anchorage, Alaska, where he was an Alcan vice-president in charge of two sub-division developments there.

Headquarters for the new corporation will open early this month in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

Rickey & Brooks have been retained as architects for the development, with Fred Brooks of Pacific Grove as the resident architect. Construction is expected to start next month.

May Festival at Woods School

The sixth annual May Festival of Woods School will be held on the kindergarten lawn tomorrow starting at 1 p.m. Children of the school will perform folk dances and interested persons are invited to their performance.

County Symphony Faced A Challenging Program

BY LANSDALE PODBERESKI

John Gosling, by programming two 19th Century giants, Beethoven and Brahms, and the 20th Century titan Stravinsky, threw a challenge to the Monterey County Symphony in its concert Tuesday night. By playing Beethoven's Fifth, probably the best known symphony in the world, the orchestra had to show its metal. Another difficult test was Brahms' "Song of Fate," called "The most widely loved of all Brahms compositions and the most perfect of his smaller choral works."

A brilliant juxtaposition was the Brahms with Stravinsky's "Symphony of Psalms." These two pieces, constituting the first half of the program, emphasized the contrast between the working philosophies of a composer of the 19th Century and one of our time. Brahms, who called his piece "my heart's blood" and "a poor little piece of soul," was so overcome when reading "Hyperion's Schicksalslied," by the romantic poet Holderlin, that he immediately sat down by the side of a lake to write his first sketch. Stravinsky, on the other hand, although using psalms which convey definite feelings, tells us not to seek in this work any emotions, but to "learn to love music for itself, to judge it on a higher plane."

The Monterey Choral Society showed precision of timing, and feeling for the poetic contexts of these works. In the Brahms, they brought out, dramatically, the contrast between the first two serenely moving stanzas and the passionate violence of the third. Unfortunately, although this reviewer had read the words both in English and the original German, it was impossible to decipher which language was being sung. This problem of intonation seemed to arise from their position to the back of the stage, where the voices could not be sufficiently projected into the auditorium. Muffled sound, no doubt due to crowding, carried over into the orchestra. Stronger dynamics would have given the music more flavor.

The Stravinsky was vocally full-bodied. Here the chorus was moved to the front, in the position usually occupied by the violins (absent from this score). The language sung was obviously Latin, there were so many "Alleluia's"! In spite of Stravinsky's words, this remarkable composition has an intensely religious fervor, of a pungent Catholic flavor. A curious split in styles between vocal and orchestral parts gives an unusual quality. It is as though Dali in his mystical medieval mood, had combined with Picasso at his most colorfully asymmetric to produce one work of art.

In the "Double Fugue," a complex contrapuntal section beginning for orchestra alone, the group did their finest playing. Raymond Fabrizio, flute, and Melvin Buffo, oboe, in their splendid teamwork showed why the strongest section of our orchestra is the woodwind.

The concert ended with Beethoven. From the orchestra's first tame statement of the theme "Fate Knocks at the Door," we felt sadly lacking the idea that this work deals with "The Awful Powers of Fate," or that it ends with "A Triumph Song of the Human Will." The orchestra, sluggish and insecure, showed especial roughness in the strings. Gosling's superficial beat, at all times precise, did not help their lack of precision. No amount of earnestness among the players could compensate for a missing sense of dynamics and unity. It demanded far more professionalism and intensely fiery leadership.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

There is a French proverb which aptly describes their attitude toward l'art gourmandise. "To invite anyone to dine implies that we charge ourselves with their happiness all the time they are under our roof."

This Saturday (May 7) from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., members of l'Alliance Francaise will conduct a bazaar or kermesse for the benefit of their French scholarship fund. Don't fail to come to the Cypress Club on Lincoln between Seventh and Eighth to see what's cooking.

Party Plans has asked some of the leading ladies of the French bazaar to contribute their favorite recipes so we can all share their secrets. There will be a gourmet booth presided over by Mme. Joelle Hathaway whose French dressing and home-grown herbs will highlight the sale. Mme. Germaine Olivie will make several large casseroles of her own speciality, Soupe aux Pois, which will be sold with crisp buttered croutons. Mme. Phyllis Jervey will offer her Sauce Vinaigrette and Wine Jelly. Mme. Ann Leffingwell will bring her version of French dressing to go with the fresh heads of romaine and French bread. Small packets of bouquet garni with which to flavor ragouts and soups will be available together with a marvelous marinade for meats.

Mme. Josette Pitfield and Mme. Sorin Issvoran will sell French pastries and Mlle. Clementine Herlax will be in charge of luncheon arrangements. With the general chairman, Mme. Henri Corbat, and coordinator of booths, Mme. Jehanne Salinger-Carlson, keeping a firm hand on activities, the vente is bound to be un succes fou! To prove our point we present the following French recipes donated by the above members of l'Alliance for your benefit.

MME. CARLSON'S SOUPE AU FROMAGE (French Cheese Soup) (Serves 6)

Two large onions; 4 cups bouillon (canned or made from cubes); slices of French bread toasted and grilled in butter; Swiss cheese.

In saucepan place approximately 2 cups water, bring to a rolling boil. Throw in this the thin slices of onions. Allow to simmer until almost all the water has evaporated. Refill with 2 more cups rapidly boiling water; allow this second water to reduce. Refill once more with again 2 cups boiling water and reduce again. The onions by this time should look like a clear puree. Fill the saucepan with as much boiling water as you need for your servings. It is best, however, if you add bouillon instead at this time, with salt and pepper to taste, and allow to simmer for a brief while. In a soup tureen place slices of the toasted bread (sauteed in butter) followed by a layer of thinly sliced Swiss cheese. Continue until you have 2 layers of each. Pour the broth over and cover to allow a good trempee (soaking). Obviously this soup must be prepared a short time before serving. It is well to admonish that the servings require speed as Swiss cheese becomes stringy upon standing.

Mrs. Carlson tells us that this recipe originated in Franche Comte, the province of her mother and maternal kinsfolk. Mrs. Carlson's grandmother made this excellent soup and taught Jehanne's mother who in turn instructed her daughter how it should be done.

As the above marvelous soup is not practical for a bazaar, the following split pea soup will be sold on Saturday.

MME. OLIVIE'S PEA SOUP (Serves 6-8)

One lb. dried split green peas; 1 bunch leeks (or 2 large onions) chopped; 1 ham hock; 6 celery stalks with tops, chopped; 1 bay leaf, crumbled; a pinch of powdered thyme; salt and pepper to taste; croutons fried in butter.

The U.S. packaged split peas do not require soaking. Wash peas and add ham hock with water to cover. After water has come to a boil, add onions and celery stalks with bay leaf and thyme. Simmer for about 2 hours, adding more water as necessary. Strain, then taste for salt and pepper. Keep the ham hock with which to make other dishes. In France the ham is not added to the soup as we do here. This should be of a creamy consistency but not like a puree. Croutons are fried in butter and added at serving. Delicieux!

MME. HATHAWAY'S FRENCH GREEN SALAD (Serves 4-6)

One large head crisp firm romaine lettuce; 2 hard boiled eggs; 1 tsp. salt; ¼ tsp. pepper; 1 twig fresh tarragon; 1 tbsp. wine vinegar; 3 tbsps. oil (peanut or olive oil).

In salad bowl combine salt, pepper and vinegar until salt is dissolved. Stir in oil, cut tarragon and add it to the dressing. After a little while add fresh cleaned romaine broken into bite-size, and one sliced hard boiled egg. Toss gently just before shredding the yolk of the second hard boiled egg over the romaine.

MME. JERVEY'S BURGUNDY WINE JELLY (Makes six 8-oz. glasses)

Three cups sugar; 2 cups burgundy wine; ½ bottle fruit pectin; paraffin.

Mix wine and sugar in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved (about 2-3 minutes). Remove from heat and at once stir in fruit pectin. Pour quickly into hot sterilized jelly glasses. Skim if necessary. Cover jelly at once with one-quarter inch hot paraffin. (Follow directions on package). Serve with red meats or poultry.

We close with a recipe for Fondue Bourguignonne which you must try at home, since it is too demanding to cook at the bazaar.

MME. CORBAT'S FONDUE BOURGUIGNONNE (Serves 6)

Prepare 3 lbs. of best filet of beef by cutting it into good-sized cubes. Saute them in butter and olive oil combined, but do not permit to bubble. Keep warm over chafing dish. Have a variety of sauces ready such as a vinaigrette (tart French dressing made with capers and hard boiled egg added); a Sauce Anglaise (Worcestershire) a curry sauce or any piquant sauce, in separate little bowls. Now prick each piece of filet with your long fork, dip it into the sauce and voila! Serve a good French or California wine with tranches of crusty French bread.

Letter To Editor

Editor
Carmel Pine Cone

We have heard so many expressions of gratitude for the horse drawn carriage in Carmel that we should pass it along to you.

Enclosed please find copy of a letter from Stephen Fisk of Stanford Medical Center expressing the pleasure this added bit of charm brought to him and his wife during their recent visit here.

Very truly yours,
Carmel Business Association
Kaye Scott
Executive Secretary

Dear Sirs:

On a recent visit to the City of Carmel, my wife and I were pleased to note a new addition to the tourist attractions for which your town is justly famous. I am referring to the horse and carriage ride along the ocean.

We found this ride to be the high point of our visit. The driver was exceedingly pleasant, and the tour was both scenic and informative. We have visited Carmel many times before and found this to be the finest of your attractions. I would like to urge you to keep this tour as part of the permanent set of attractions in Carmel.

I know that both my wife and I will be certain to tell everyone we know about the horse and carriage concession and urge them to take the ride.

Yours truly,
Stephen Fisk

Stock Market Notes

By Hugh Hannon

IRVING LUNDBORG CO.

Our economy in the United States has been growing steadily for 20 years and this has led the stock market up on balance for the same period of time. Has this rise gone about as far as it can go?

McGraw-Hill, one of the most respected analysts of the economic future says "NO". Their recently published study of what to expect through 1980 concludes that even the most conservative assumptions leads one to the conclusion that the U. S. economy will grow faster over the next 15 years than at any time in the past 50 years. They think business output will grow at an average annual rate of 4.1% as against 3.8% for the last 15 years. They also think inflation will continue at an average annual rate of 2%. An optimist might add these two rates together and conclude that the stock market might rise at an average annual rate of 6.8% for the next 15 years. If that happens, the stock market would double in price during this time. Wouldn't that be lovely! And that's not counting dividends!

Seems like there's usually a sour note somewhere in these forecasts and one that stands out in this one is that they expect state and local government spending to increase 131%. Sounds like taxes will go up, too!

The greatest increase in the manufacturing industry is expected to be plastics. The greatest increase in retail products is expected to be mutual fund withdrawal plans. By that is meant people investing multiples of $10,000 in a mutual fund and having the fund send them $50.00 per month (a withdrawal rate of 6% per year) for each $10,000 invested.

Some call this the modern simple way: let the mutual fund management do the book work in-

NEW CITY TREASURER

The city council appointed Frederick K. Duhring to the position of city treasurer during an executive session on Monday. He is assistant manager of the Carmel office of the Wells Fargo Bank.

Mr. Duhring will fill out the unexpired four-year term of Sam Coleman who resigned, because of ill health, from the position to which he was elected in 1964. Salary for the position is $65 a month.

The new city treasurer began his banking career with Wells Fargo in 1946 and has been with the Carmel office for six years.

Durell Decker Was Married

At home in their apartment overlooking the bay in Monterey are Mr. and Mrs. Nader Tharat Agha, the former Durell Alane Decker, whose wedding took place on April 12. Durell is a native Carmelite, having been born here when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Decker of Corral de Tierra, were residents. Her husband, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mustafa Kamal Agha of Damascus, Syria, is a student at Monterey Peninsula College.

The Reverend Alexander C. Bryans read the late afternoon ceremony at the Church of the Wayfarer, which was decorated with Easter lilies for the occasion.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a full length princess style gown of silk linen, fashioned with a round neckline and elbow-length sleeves edged in Venise lace. Three gathered tiers in the back ended in a short sweep train. Her illusion veil was held in place by a lace and pearl three-petal crown with a white rose in the center. A cascade of white orchids, lilies of the valley and stephanotis adorned the white Bible she carried. Circling her throat was a gold chain with a diamond, pearl and gold pendant, a gift from the bridegroom.

Carolyn Goren, the bride's former roommate at the University of California at Los Angeles, was her maid of honor. Her empire style, pink crepe gown had a full-length skirt and a sleeveless bodice, with a matching pink rose at the apex of its low cut "V" back. She wore a bow and veil of the same hue and carried a cascade of green cymbidium orchids.

Paget Decker, brother of the bride, served as the best man. Marwan Karadshah of Jordan, a Monterey Peninsula College classmate of the bridegroom, seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Decker chose a sheath in a muted print of pink chiffon over taffeta, with which she wore a corsage of white orchids.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds cut their wedding cake at a reception in the Garden Room of the church, then left for a brief trip to San Francisco.

Family members and other out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Dean K. Decker, Mr. and Mrs. Don Day and Mrs. Ira Decker all of Salinas; from King City, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kolb, Virginia Threkeld and Mrs. Louis Sostraro. Others were Mrs. Chuck Jones of Soledad and Mrs. John Armer of Greenfield.

After graduating from Sunset and Carmel High Schools, also Hartnell College in Salinas, the bride pursued her undergraduate studies in Near Eastern history at several institutions, among them the University of Bordeaux and the University of California at Los Angeles, where she received a B.A. degree. She has done graduate work in West African studies and last summer enrolled as an Arabic scholar on a fellowship at the University of Michigan. She is presently employed with Carmel jeweler Loyola Fourtane.

Her husband, a graduate of Port Said High School and Jaul Jamal College of Science, was enrolled at the University of Damascus before coming to the United States. After completion of his English studies at Monterey Peninsula College, he plans to continue his work toward a degree in petroleum engineering at an American university.

On UC Honor List

Seven undergraduates from the Carmel area at the University of California's Berkeley campus have made the Honor List, placing them in the top 18 percent of the student body in academic performance, Chancellor Roger W. Heyns announces.

They are Pamela Rosewall Cavala, Natasha Doner, Boz Williams, Terry Cox, Susan Pfarrer, Eric Danysh and Andrea Wurmann.

All of them attained high academic standing based on work completed by the end of the fall semester. They gained certain privileges not granted to other students, such as taking part in honors programs involving individual study in particular fields of interest under close supervision by a faculty member, and may be exempted from certain university requirements.

These boys and girls gave time and effort to help plant and maintain the area around the school. They have taken care of the trees and shrubs that were planted, all indigenous Monterey area growth. The planting, donated by Big Sur residents, includes Santa Lucia firs, madrone, pines and a Dawn Redwood.

The awards were made by Art Martell of the U. S. Forest Service, Big Sur. A plaque inscribed with the boys and girls' names also was presented for display at the school.

Dr. Matteson Has Sloan Grant

Dr. Donald S. Matteson, associate professor of chemistry at Washington State University, has been named to an Alfred P. Sloan research fellowship of an annual unrestricted grant of $8,050 per year for basic research for two years.

Dr. Matteson, whose wife is the former Sunny Cook of Carmel, was one of 90 young scientists in the U.S. and Canada named to received grants from the Sloan foundation. A WSU staff member for the past seven and one-half years, he has concentrated his research in the area of organo-metallic chemicals. Dr. Matteson, who spent a year with the Dupont Company in Wilmington, Delaware, holds a bachelor's degree from the University of California and a Ph.D. from the University of Illinois.

Del Monte Dog Show Training Class Sunday

Entry blanks for the 41st Annual All Breed Del Monte Dog Show scheduled for May 29 at Del Monte Lodge are now available at veterinary hospitals, pet shops and boarding kennels throughout the Peninsula.

Entries for the show will be accepted until May 9, but because the number of dogs will be limited to 1,500, entries will close before then if the limit has been reached.

Only dogs (except puppies) that have placed first in a regular class at an American Kennel Club sanctioned show at which championship points were awarded shall be eligible for this blue ribbon event. However, this applies neither to dogs which are entered only in the obedience trials, nor to puppies from six to 12 months.

Training classes for dogs entered in the Del Monte Show will be held on May 8 at Carmel High School from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. These handling classes will be under the direction of Dr. Frank Corcoran, Mrs. Werda Knutsen and Duane Graham.

Music Society To Hear Guest Pianist

The Carmel Music Society's annual meeting will be held on May 27 at 8 p.m. in Sunset Center auditorium. On the agenda will be election of board members, a financial report and the annual report by the president, Mrs. Carl E. Welchner.

As a special treat, the internationally known American pianist, William Corbett Jones, will appear as guest artist.

Manila born and American bred, Mr. Jones attended the 1946 Juilliard summer session and continued studying music under scholarships at the San Francisco Conservatory and the University of California. He worked extensively on chamber music repertoire with the Alma Trio, Griller String Quartet and Trio di Trieste, also studied analysis with Ernest Bloch.

Since his professional debut in 1953 at the San Francisco Museum of Art, Mr. Jones has performed in a great number of concerts, including eight solos with the San Francisco Symphony.

In addition to playing more than 80 concerts on two national tours with the Temianka Little Symphony, he collaborated with Henri Temianka and the Paganini Quartet in the making of six educational films on musical forms.

Mr. Jones has given recitals around the globe and has performed in radio and television concerts and has participated in the Meiringen and the Salzburg Chamber Music Festivals.

Flower Industry To Study Monterey Area

The possibility that the Monterey area may become the center of a new, high-intensity flower growing industry has been revealed in the announcement by William Zappettini Jr., president of the California State Florists' Association, that the planning and architectural firm of Whisler/Patri Associates of Monterey and San Francisco has been requested to conduct a land-use survey of this and other areas of the state.

"The flower growers of California are being 'frozen out' of existence by crop-destroying smog, the over-running of prime land by housing developments, and the unrealistic assessment of such lands as 'urban' for taxation purposes," Mr. Zappettini declared.

"It would appear that Monterey has the necessary attributes for development of a major floriculture industry," he continued. "To be determined is climatological suitability, especially freedom from smog now and in the future; proper soil conditions; the pattern for future urbanization and land uses; and such economic factors as transportation to major markets and air shipping.

"If the Whisler/Patri Associates study bears out all the 'plus factors' flower growers want, the next step will be to seek the co-operation of county authorities to safeguard this new industry by enactment of 'green-belt' legislation, or zoning, and an equitable assessment pattern to assure development and growth," Mr. Zappettini concluded.

California flower growers already supply 22% of all the flowers marketed in the nation. To meet this demand, more than 50% of all the air freight lifted from California is composed of flowers. Floriculture in California is the state's fifth largest division of agriculture, with a farm value of $55,000,000.

MUSSEL QUARANTINE

Dr. Richard S. Fraser, director of public health for Monterey County, announces that a quarantine of mussels for human consumption has been established by the State Department of Public Health.

The quarantine has been placed on the entire California shore line, including the coastal waters of Monterey County. It will be in effect from May 1 through October 31, 1966. However, mussels may be used for bait during this period, provided they are broken open at the time they are gathered and are placed in containers labeled "Mussels may contain Poison. Unfit for human food."

FROM A
LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Two new small collections which will grow larger as time and materials permit are books for foreign readers wishing to learn English and books for readers with sight problems. Both categories are ones which we have long wished to provide. Some years ago Harpers published books with slightly larger type. The library had a few but over the years they wore out. Now a publisher with a real thought for people and their needs has started to publish editions in large type. His name is Keith Jenkinson and his books are beautiful. They are somewhat larger than the customary size. The type is large and beautifully clear and the paper is softly cream color. These books could be a delight to readers with normal vision who could use them to rest eyes while reading. We have 16 titles now and have ordered others. We shall continue to get them as fast as they are announced. We are buying them through the Monterey County Library so they will be available to readers outside Carmel as well as residents of the village. A list of titles in the series will be posted on the bulletin board and the books will be on display over the card catalog. Take one home and read in comfort. We have great good hopes for these books so do not ignore them and disappoint us.

There are only seven books in the collection for new English readers. They are juvenile books but they are ones recommended for our purpose by the American Library Association. They have good sturdy vocabularies and a rather patriotic subject matter. Naturally.

Speaking of other new books, let us first say a word about "PAPA HEMINGWAY" by A. E. Hotchner. We have two copies which will take care of any waiting list. Hotchner covers only a part of Hemingway's life, the period during which the two men were friends. He writes of Papa without much clear emotion. He says he was terribly concerned about Papa's health, but the reader never shares his concern because he expresses it with no personal feeling. His style is lucid but dry and without any large sense of time passed. If it were not for the dates at the beginning of each chapter, it would seem that all action took place in a kind of limbo where time stood still. Yet it is a clear picture he paints of Hemingway even if in many ways it is not a sympathetic picture. Interesting, but impersonal . . . and after saying such a thing I always wonder if I am the only person in the world to have that reaction . . . or if everyone else was torn to bits by the book.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Spiritual versus materialistic views of man's nature will be explored at Christian Science church services this Sunday in a Bible Lesson on "Adam and Fallen Man."

In addition to passages from the opening chapters of Genesis, Bible readings will present the account of Jesus raising Lazarus from the grave, and these lines from Ephesians and Isaiah: "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light . . . Shake thyself from the dust."

Interpretive statements to be read from the Christian Science textbook will include these: "This awakening is the forever coming of Christ, the advanced appearing of Truth, which casts out error and heals the sick . . . When we wake to the truth of being, all disease, pain, weakness, weariness, sorrow, sin, death, will be unknown and the mortal dream will forever cease" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

At the age of 94 that amazing woman Helena Rubenstein was still planning and managing her immense interests in the world of feminine beauty. Her autobiography is called "MY LIFE FOR BEAUTY," and in the course of telling her life story she gives many beauty hints which should prove of value to feminine readers.

"A WORLD OF SNAKES" is by Thomas Helm. He talks mostly about harmful snakes, the rattlesnakes, the coral snakes, copperheads and water moccasins. Maps of the United States show where these are found. From them we gather that the only place relatively free of harmful snakes is the state of Minnesota. Pictures are interesting and enough to give a timid librarian a case of the megrims.

"DOWN WHERE THE MOON IS SMALL" by Richard Llewellyn is number three in the series which began with "How Green Was My Valley." The first one was the best, according to several reviewers. In this life, if you really hit the jackpot the first time out, everything else that you do is smaller by comparison. So enjoy this one and forget to contrast it with the earlier ones. That's wisdom, that is.

Please remember to examine our large type books and tell your friends about them every chance you get.

RICHARD FARINA

Richard (Dick) G. Farina, above, 29-year old folksinger, composer-musician and author of a newly published novel, was killed Saturday evening near Camp Stefani in Carmel Valley when the motorcycle on which he was a passenger ran off the road. Both the dead man and the driver, William Hinds of Pacific Grove, were thrown from the machine, traveling at high speed, after it failed to negotiate a sharp curve, skidded, hurtled over an embankment and crashed through two barbed wire fences.

Before the accident occurred, Dick Farina had spent the afternoon at a Carmel Valley bookstore autographing copies of his first book, "Been Down So Long It Looks Like Up to Me."

He came to live in Carmel Highlands two years ago with his wife, Mimi (Margarita), whom he married after a number of years of adventurous travel in foreign countries. The couple successfully collaborated in the field of folk music, both in concert and recording. Mr. Farina, a member of the National Association of Composers, also worked with his sister-in-law, famed folksinger Joan Baez.

Born March 8, 1937, in Brooklyn, New York, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Farina of Brooklyn.

Private graveside services were held Tuesday in Cementerio El Encinal, Monterey, with the Reverend Karel V. Vit officiating.

Robert Doolittle

Private family services were held Monday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, for Robert A. Doolittle, who died Saturday at his home on Ridgewood Road after a long period of failing health.

He was a native of Chicago, Illinois, where he was born January 5, 1890.

A former resident of Pasadena, Mr. Doolittle had made his home in Carmel for the past 40 years. As a youth he sailed before the mast, acquiring a lifelong enthusiasm for ships and the sea which led, in turn, to his constructing fine ship models. One of the best of these, "HMS Bounty," is in the San Francisco Maritime Museum. During World War I he served in the U. S. Navy.

He is survived by his wife, Marjorie, a well known artist; a sister, Miss Aimee Doolittle of Carmel; two brothers, Burton Doolittle of Carmel and Donald Doolittle of South Laguna; and a nephew, William G. Doolittle of San Francisco.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mr. Doolittle may do so to the Cobalt Therapy Unit, Community Hospital, Box HH, Carmel.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of services.

Ben Updike

Requiem mass was celebrated Tuesday morning at Carmel Mission Basilica for Benjamin (Ben) Updike, a highly respected resident of the community for more than 25 years. Mr. Updike died in a local hospital Saturday after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage the previous day.

A native of Lusk, Wyoming, he was born March 29, 1910.

For the past 22 years, Mr. Updike was the owner-operator of Kip's Meat Market. At the time of his death he was president of the Carmel Kiwanis Club.

He leaves a son, Robert Updike of Carmel; two daughters, Mrs. William Conlan and Mrs. June Feeney, both of Carmel Valley; four brothers, Richard and Lester Updike of Osage, Wyoming, Henry Updike of Newcastle, Wyoming, and Claude Updike of Guatemala; a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Davis of Carmel; and 11 grandchildren. His wife, Florence, died in 1960.

Florence Wells

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Florence Wells, at the age of 103, on April 28. She was a frequent visitor to Carmel for many years having built one of the two first houses on Carmel Point in 1908. This dwelling is now the home of Jean Arthur. For the past several years, Mrs. Wells has lived with her niece, Mrs. David Oliphant, in Berkeley.

Red Cross Needs Additional $3,000

"Goal to go," an exciting announcement in football, is applicable to the Red Cross Golden Anniversary Fund Drive. With $28,796 as the goal for 1966, approximately $3,000 remains to be collected.

"The especially heavy demands on Red Cross at this time make us eager to get the balance of our fund in as soon as possible, in order to carry on our many projects," says Frederick K. (Dick) Duhring, fund drive chairman. He urges that anyone who has not sent in a donation, or who has been missed by the regular solicitors, send a check to Box AR, Carmel.

Council Acts Thrice On Tree Tour Tuesday

By Gunnar Norberg

Just three agenda items. Just three decisions. That was all that faced the three city councilmen, barely a quorum, last Tuesday, as they started the city council's monthly place-to-place "tree tour" meeting. But the afternoon was unseasonably cold and the damp fog chilling—and this, after several warm, nearly idyllic days. So councilmen, shivering a bit, appreciated the brief agenda—and reached their few decisions unanimously, something not altogether common in Carmel.

Acting thrice—and, in something of a trice—were newly seated Mayor Steve Grant, newly elected Councilman William Sef-ton, and myself.

First item on the council's traveling agenda, was a request by Associated Oil—on behalf of its Sixth and San Carlos service station—for approval of driveway widths, as a first step in advance of the preparation of plans for reconstruction of the station. Presenting the request was Robert D. Green, Associated's construction engineer, who scaled down his company's preliminary driveways proposal to fit the lesser-width formula allowed under Carmel law, and then won council approval.

Next site to which the council made its way, was the Ralph Jacobs home at the southeast corner of Carmelo and Ocean, where the owner sought extensive tree-trimming to improve visibility for drivers entering or leaving parking places on, or adjacent to, his property.

Councilmen directed the city street superintendent and the city forester to make a report, with recommendations, to provide data required for a detailed, and informed, consideration of this matter.

Third, and final, matter on the short agenda, was somewhat unusual even for a Carmel city council.

Mrs. Florence Yoch, whose home is on Lopez near Fourth, complained of what she identified as violent propulsion against, and serious abrasion of, the street-side of her garage entrance, which faced on what appeared to be a rather secluded, sylvan thoroughfare. This violence, she attributed to "swift young sports cars" seeking to make tight turns on her narrow street, and just not quite succeeding.

Consequently Mrs. Yoch had placed two stout posts, linked by locked chains, on city property in front of her garage entrance, and sought council blessing for this barrier.

Councilmen felt that undetermined legal aspects were part-and-parcel of all this, and needed exploring before definitive council action could properly be taken. Accordingly, they directed the city attorney to make appropriate recommendations in the matter.

Then, with just the slightest trace of a shiver, the council adjourned.

Helen Snyder

Word has been received of the death in a San Francisco rest home on April 24 of Mrs. Helen Butler Snyder, Berkeley sculptor who formerly maintained a studio in Carmel. Private services for Mrs. Snyder, a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Berkeley, were held in that city on April 26.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Joyce Watson of Berkeley; two sisters, Mrs. Harold Teasdel of San Diego and Mrs. Willis Edmiston of Patterson; and five grandchildren.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mrs. Snyder may do so to Adventure Unlimited, 13423 Clayton Road, St. Louis, Missouri.

Art News

Anyone interested in a view of the world around us, as seen through the eyes of small children, may see the Kindergarten Creativity show in the Young People's Art Center (Room 11) at Sunset Center. Hours are 3:30-5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Special arrangements for groups to see the show at any time may be made.

Marcia De Voe, kindergarten teacher at River School, hung the exhibit and included a photograph of one of the young artists at work which captures the intensity of creation. All work in the exhibition is by local children.

Ralph Jacobs of Carmel has been asked by the Kern County parks and recreation department to judge its 18th annual art festival which will be held on Saturday in the Cunningham Memorial Art Gallery in Bakersfield.

He also has been selected as guest artist, and to exhibit his work, in the American Allied Arts Association's 26th annual art exhibit on May 15 and to attend this organization's scholarship awards banquet on May 13 in the Airport Marina Hotel in Los Angeles. Members of the association's board of directors have been invited to meet the Carmel artist.

Carmel artists whose work will be included in the Saratoga Rotary Club's ninth annual arts and crafts festival on May 15 are Lydia Cooling, Bernice Fouratt, Beth Garcia and G. T. Aken. All proceeds of the show will be donated to the Villa Montalvo Association and the Ming Quong Children's Center. The latter is a privately supported multiple treatment center for boys and girls. Villa Montalvo is a cultural center devoted to the development of art, literature, music and architecture.

Currently showing at the Galerie de Tours is an exhibition of Anton van Dalen's precisionist work.

Van Dalen comes from a Dutch family that has traditionally been involved in the arts for many generations. He was born in the Hague, Holland in 1927 and attended the Royal Academy of Art there, as did his father before him. Van Dalen, the elder, also taught art all his life in the Dutch capital city.

Anton, the younger, came to the U. S. in 1956 and worked first in graphic design, then moved into painting as a profession. He subsequently was commissioned to do five murals in gold leaf for David's Shalom in San Francisco as well as a series of other intricate works that made full use of his unique style.

Precisionist works have fascinated painters for centuries, but the rigorous attention to both detail and spirit necessary has usually discouraged most of them quickly. Van Dalen has the necessary temperament and the requisite early exposure in Holland where this type of painting has been popular for hundreds of years.

His works have been purchased by Mrs. Edward G. Robinson, Beall Ernst, and the San Francisco Hilton Hotel among others.

An exhibit of original rubbings by Norma Fox will be on display at the Grove Gallery through June 5. In her rubbings Mrs. Fox combines the letters and designs, such as 18th century carved angels found on gravestones, with the texture of the stones themselves. The results are fascinating designs of form and texture.

Although Mrs. Fox now resides in Carmel Valley, she is from the East where her work has been shown extensively. She has had one-man shows of her rubbings at both the Ruth White Gallery in New York and the Farleigh Dickinson University in New Jersey.

The Grove Gallery is located at 214 17th St. in Pacific Grove behind the Bank of America.

Judges for the Peninsula Posters for Peace contest are Mrs. Nathaniel Owings of Big Sur, Miss Nancy Johnson of Carmel and Sister Margaret Mary, SND, of Belmont. Deadline for entries is tomorrow in both the adult and children's categories.

The Church of the Wayfarer again will be host to the community and visitors to the Bach Festival at its Tenth Annual Exhibit of Religious Art from July 16 through July 24. Mrs. Robert R. Aurner, local artist and friend of the church, will work with a committee of members in contacting artists and craftsmen in many parts of the country.

Louise Cardeiro Boyer's exhibition, "Contrasts in South America and Mexico", at the Monterey Neighborhood Center, Senior Citizens' Wing, Scholze Park, Lighthouse Avenue, Monterey, will open with a tea tomorrow from 3 to 5 p.m. to which the public is invited. The exhibition will be on display throughout the month of May. It can be visited Mondays through Fridays from 10-12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.

This one-man show of Mrs. Boyer's work is devoted to the people and to the many contrasts in the life in Latin America with emphasis on Ecuador, Colombia and Mexico, some of the countries in which Mrs. Boyer and her husband, Gilbert, have worked in community development programs under the Laubach Literacy Program and the Peace Corps.

This group has not been shown here previously. Some of them, under the title "Fiestas of Mexico" were shown in Mexico City, Guatemala City, Quezaltenango, and at the Panamerican Union in Washington, D. C. Last year, drawings and watercolors of Ecuador were shown in Munich, Germany.

Louise Cardeiro Boyer graduated from the Boston Museum School, studied later with Xavier Gonzalez and Hans Hoffman, had many one-man shows in New England, as well as local and national juried shows. The latter included the American Water Color Society, Pennsylvania Academy International Water Color Exhibition, Connecticut Academy of Fine Arts and the Boston Art Festival.

For the past 12 years she and her husband, concert pianist Gilbert Boyer, have lived in Carmel except for five years in South and Central America and last year in Europe.

Since coming West, Mrs. Boyer has had one-man shows in the Carmel Art Association, Montalvo, IBM in San Jose, Studio 44 and Lucien Labaudt Galleries in San Francisco. Her paintings are shown in the Spring and Fall Exhibitions of the rental gallery of the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art of which she is a member.

The operation of Joan Baez's Institute for the Study of Non-violence located in Carmel Valley has violated conditions of the use permit granted the school, Monterey County planning commissioners, decided on April 27. Cited was the holding of seminars on weekends.

Holly Chenery, the institute's secretary, pleaded guilty to the charge on the advice of the institute's new lawyer, Francis Heisler, and was admonished by the commission.

The warning issued by commissioners last week is customary procedure before disciplinary action is taken. The commission's planning staff had proposed revocation of the use permit.

Farm Center Building, Carmel Valley

Louis Conlan, Realtor, offers for your reading pleasure and information this excerpt from the first edition of The Carmel Pine Cone dated February 3, 1915.

CARMEL—HOW IT WAS NAMED—When Sebastian Vizcaino, the Spanish navigator, in December, 1602, was skirting the California coast looking for a harbor in which to locate a colony as a haven to which the Philippine galleons could run for shelter from pirates, he landed in Monterey Bay. With him were three friars of the Carmelite order. Vizcaino immediately began to make rough surveys of the territory in order to furnish a map of the harbor with his report to the King of Spain. The Carmelite friars took advantage of the delay to ascend the hills back of the landing place in order to examine the country in the interior. When they reached the top of the hill they were amazed by the similarity of the topography of the country to that surrounding the sacred Carmel Monastery from whence they came. Mount Carmel in the Holy Land had been duplicated in this far western country. Because of this resemblance, they prevailed on Vizcaino to name the river traversing the plain, Carmelo River, and the mountain in the background, Mount Carmel.

It will be noted that Carmel River and Mount Carmel are the geographical points bearing their present names for the longest time of any in the United States. Jamestown, Virginia, was founded five years later.

The resemblance between the topography of the land lying between Nazareth and the Arabian Sea and that lying between Salinas and Carmel Bay has been oftentimes remarked by tourists.

WATCH THIS SPACE FOR FUTURE TIDBITS.

Council Approves Carmel Civic Center

The "tax interim" financing method involves year-to-year short-term borrowings, with annual repayments and borrowings again, and the gradual and ultimate replacement of the original $300,000 of city cash reserves which now are to be used for excavation and construction costs. Arguments made for this by the council majority — Blanks, Whittlesey, and Grant — were essentially that this method involved the least interest cost.

I repeated to the council the perils in the "tax interim" financing which were presented in a factual paper by City Administrator Hugh Bayless some time ago when he said:

- (1) The city's present sound fiscal position would be seriously jeopardized if the city council did not recapitalize the cash reserves in any year during the accumulation of hostelry tax funds;
- (2) Loss of hostelry tax revenue, due to unforeseen causes, would leave the city without cash reserves.

The council majority — Blanks, Whittlesey, and Grant — said the seeming perils were hardly as menacing as the council minority — Sefton and myself — felt them to be. They could not foresee a time when a city council would not make every possible effort to replace cash reserves, and they similarly believed hostelry tax revenues would essentially be available at sufficient levels to make the desired eventual replacement of the city's cash reserves, a near certainty — which Mr. Sefton and I disputed.

Other items on the long council agenda included a reference to appointment of members to the Carmel Arts Commission. This item has been on the agenda for several months, while two members — Barbara West and Madeleine Powers Leoni — continue to serve on expired terms. There is also an unfilled vacancy. Again last night, no appointments were made, this time by Mayor Grant, who said he had "ten people to contact".

Three ordinances received the necessary second reading and were adopted. One concerned rules relating to the taking up of already decided matters at later times. Another provided for tightening of certain background checking procedures when new employees are being considered for hiring. A third reclassified the lot adjoining the Red Cross building at Dolores and Eighth for off-street parking use.

Placed on the agenda for the June meeting was a proposal for the fire commissioner and the fire chief to explore possible costs for fire protection services in adjacent, presently unincorporated areas.

Resolutions adopted by the council included one providing for a passenger loading zone in front of the new theatre at Dolores and Seventh. Another provided a loading zone for the carriage service, already authorized, on Junipero north of Ocean Avenue. Still another expressed the council's unanimous appreciation for the eight-year service of former Councilman James Buffington. Routine resolutions confirmed regular status for Assistant Fire Chief J. R. Belvail and Senior Streetman J. B. Grewell, and the advancement of another, Morris Singletary.

Not on the agenda, but brought up during a suspension of the formal agenda, was a request from the Sunset Commission that the city seek a portion of the civic center tax collected by the Carmel Unified School District, since the city — at Sunset Center — now provides a number of community services, without charge, which the school district in other years provided there. Mentioned were the frequent uses of both auditorium and adjoining rooms for rehearsals and performances of the Monterey County

Postponed for consideration at future meetings, were an ordinance regulating trimming of trees which extend over both private and public property; the consideration of a proposal to house Carmel Girl Scouts at the Forest Theater or, alternatively, at Sunset Center; the possible amendment of a municipal code item which regulates use and possession of alcoholic beverages on city property as well as other public property; and the placing of a dollar-value on parking spaces to be provided by the city for the benefit of, and at the cost of, builders of business buildings who cannot provide their own required parking spaces.

A request by City Forester Hugh Smith that 1966-67 funds be committed ahead of usual budget time, to allow him to hire extra summer help for the city, was referred to the council's lands and improvements committee, composed of Councilmen Blanks and Sefton, for study.

Editor's Note: At the request of Councilman Gunnar Norberg, a requested change in the municipal code to allow the serving of alcoholic beverages at Sunset Center was placed on last night's city council agenda. Present city law prohibits the consumption of alcoholic beverages on city-owned property. The council referred Mr. Norberg's proposed change in this law to its committee on administration for study and report at a later date.
